

CHAPTER 8 - QUESTION 1

DAVID

HEIDI

TERI

KATE

1 . When students spend time online, it is highly likely that they are going to be exposed to unacceptable content. Educators need to be aware of this at all times when they are encouraging students to use the Internet for research. How do you believe educators should be proactive in dealing with this issue?

If something inappropriate is happened upon by a student they need to be taught to:

- turn off the computer monitor right away
- call on a teacher/supervisor

-do NOT call attention of other students to the inappropriate material

-let the teacher deal with getting rid of the material

The following are big group ideas for conversations about internet
safety:

Taken from <http://www.netsmartz.org> as linked from MyEducationLab>Ethical, Legal, and Social Issues>Activities and Applications>Web Activities>Teaching About Online
Safety

Educators Guide to Online Communication Tools

Online Safety Tips for Teens

Online Safety Tips for Tweens

Protecting Kids

Discussion

What strategies have you tried/used in your classroom to be proactive in dealing with or avoiding unacceptable content?

